EXPECT THE UNEXPECTED

Having spent over eight years in this industry, I have come to understand creation through the perspectives of those who shape it. This book, 3Printed, is not merely a compilation—it is a measured gesture of acknowledgment, a quiet testament to the brilliance and dedication of creators. It is a space where work is recognized not for fame, but for its merit, its thoughtfulness, and its precision.

I have always believed in the power of curation. The creative landscape is vast, ever-evolving, and teeming with trends and celebrated names. Yet within these pages, our focus remains steadfast: quality, intentionality, and discernment over notoriety. The inaugural edition of 3Printed is a celebration of PRIDE. Each contributor has shared a piece of their craft that embodies their vision, rigor, and devotion. It is a profound honor that these creators entrusted me with their work, allowing it to be presented thoughtfully and preserved meaningfully. Their contributions form the very essence of this book and the reason for its existence.

The Banjara Hills bungalow, aptly named The Emerald, is a testament to the homeowners' journey and success. Designed by Amit Shastri and his team, the residence embodies lavishness, comfort, and contemporary elegance. Rising from a contoured site, the home blends modern architecture with warmth, creating a boutique retreat within the neighbourhood. Green hues flow from the lush exterior into the interiors, accentuated by exotic marble, rich upholstery, and bespoke furniture.

From the dramatic entry with sculptural lighting to the double-height living spaces adorned with chandeliers and marble flooring, every detail exudes grandeur. The golden dining table, velvet chairs, and mirrored panels heighten the sense of opulence. Personal spaces reflect distinct tastes: the parents' bedroom embraces classical elegance with ivory tones and distressed finishes, while the sons' bedrooms feature bold marble accents and contemporary palettes. Common areas balance earth tones with curated furniture, offering both serenity and sociability.

Crowning the residence, the second floor and terrace celebrate eclectic luxury, with striking red accents, porcelain-inspired décor, and brass details. Seamlessly weaving together architecture, landscape, and interiors, The Emerald is a palatial home where sophistication, scale, and warmth coexist.
